Recommendations have been addressed as follows

1. GPA has been raised to 2.5. The PSB will count 50% of the point count instead of 75%. Points have been increased for A's in related courses.

2. Sil Anderson an African American Health care consultant has joined our advisory board. Joseph Grisetti a male nursing student has also joined the board.

3. Nursing programs throughout the state are looking at attrition, how to define it and what to do reduce the numbers. The changes made in the admission criteria, I believe, is a start in the right direction, rewarding the struggling student who has taken all the relateds and done well as opposed to the high scorer on the PSB who has no idea what nursing is about but is seeking a more stable employment situation.
