- A perfect fit for students scheduling classes around family obligations, strict work schedules, or other responsibilities
- Two different formats: Internet or Hybrid

Internet

- Requires students to manage their time wisely and be self-motivated
- Best for students who already have good time management, computer, writing, and organizational skills

During registration, Internet are indicated by an “I” in the course code. Examples: CIS-110-I2 and BIO-240-I1

NOTE: Some Internet courses may require proctored testing at approved sites. Check with the department offering the course before you register.

Hybrid

- A mixture of online and face-to-face time—most hybrid courses at CFCC meet in a physical classroom once a week
- Best for students who have all of the skills associated with Internet courses, but prefer or need more hands-on assistance from the instructor

During registration, Hybrid courses are indicated by a “Y” in the course code. Examples: BIO-112-DY1 and HUM-115-DYE1A
